GEOGRAPHICAL

Landscape Atlas of the U.S.S.R. This is one of the most comprehensive geopolitical and topographic examinations of the Soviet Union currently available. The country is divided into 11 geographic regions, each of which is discussed and described in words and maps. The major agricultural and industrial activities of each region are given. The graphics are of an unusually high quality and easily discernible in the book's 12 x 18 inch format. All areas of the U.S.S.R. including the thinly populated and disputed lands of the Soviet Far East, are given special attention. 1971, reprinted 1975. 197 p. il., map in pocket.

Facsimiles of Maps and Atlases. Old maps are interesting, not only to historians and antiquarians, but also, because of the lettering, illumination and fanciful cartouches, to many other persons. The great increase in prices for rare maps and atlases, however, has made them prohibitively expensive for most libraries and many amateur collectors; thus, facsimile publication has become increasingly important in the past few years. Facsimiles distributed by both nonprofit institutions and commercial publishers and dealers are included in this list. The maps and atlases are listed under the name of the facsimile publisher or distributor. 1980. 35 p.

Railroad Maps of the United States: A Selective Annotated Bibliography of Original 19th Century Maps in Geography and Map Division of the Library of Congress. Described are 622 maps chosen from more than 3,000 railroad maps and almost 2,000 regional, State, and county maps. The maps vary widely in area, content, and scale, some depicting the interrelationships of various modes of transportation, others showing land immediately adjacent to a specific railroad right of way. All of the maps selected represent a profile of the development of cartographical style and technique and are not intended to inventory all maps in the division that show railroads. The list does reflect, however, the important achievements of early railroaders toward reaching their ultimate goal of providing a transportation network spanning the country and linking the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. 1975. 112 p. il.

People's Republic of China, Administrative Atlas. When the People's Republic of China was proclaimed in 1949, the country consisted of 34 provinces, the Inner Mongolian Autonomous Region, one territory, and 12 centrally governed municipalities. Since that time, major changes in the administrative structure of the People's Republic of China have been effected, including experimentation with regional administration, a gradual reduction in the number of provinces and province-level units, and establishment of autonomous administrative units in areas inhabited by minority nationality groups. This atlas, which was compiled by the Central Intelligence Agency, depicts these changes in detailed maps of each province. Pronunciation guides are included in the atlas, and a list of the administrative divisions within the provinces accompanies each map. 1976. 68 p. il.

GENERAL INFORMATION

There is no free distribution by this Office. Regulations require remittance in advance of shipment of publications, either by check or money order payable to the Superintendent of Documents. Do not send currency (bills or coins) or postage stamps.

With the exception of specially priced publications, a discount of 25 percent is allowed on quantity purchases (100 or more copies of a single publication). The same discount applies to orders from a bookdealer (any quantity) when the publications are mailed to the dealer's normal place of business. No discount will be allowed when publications are mailed to a third party (unless in quantities of 100 or more per title).

NON U.S. CUSTOMERS—International mailing regulations require special handling for which we charge an additional 25 percent of the total cost of your order. Remittance is required in advance of shipping by draft on a United States or Canadian Bank, by UNESCO coupons or by International Postal Money Order made payable to the Superintendent of Documents. These orders are mailed via surface mail unless funds are sent to cover airmail postage. Foreign currency or checks will not be accepted. All orders must be in English.
